Grant Thornton, one of the UK's largest firms of accountants, have selected Eurotek to equip their new regional headquarters in Crawley.

The two floors, comprising 7,000 sq ft offices on the town's Manor Royal Business Park, have been stylishly furnished throughout with Eurotek's highest specification Glade systems furniture.

In the larger, open plan work areas, Eurotek have installed around 80 fully cabled managed workstations with pedestals in beech finish. Each individual unit has a desk mounted screen, sliding top and is neatly offset with radial front lipping. In addition, a multi-purpose, partitioned board room/presentation suite, has been equipped with two large folding Eurotek meeting tables and seating throughout.

A further four Partner's offices have been furnished in Eurotek's new Regis range.

Eurotek also supplied a variety of metre high storage and wall height storage facilities, all in matching beech. The company also provided all the seating and reception chairs.

Consultant Ken Bone, who managed the project on behalf of Grant Thornton, said all the furniture had been installed in a two and a half day period in order to meet the company's demanding relocation schedule. "Everybody at Eurotek knew what they were doing and it enabled us to make a smooth transition from our old offices elsewhere in Crawley and Brighton to the new headquarters," said Mr Bone.
